SPECTACULAR—An estimated $400,000 went up in smoke and flames when roof of long-time landmark, the Westlake Hotel in Rocky River, suburban Cleveland, Ohio, burned. Fast work by firemen from several communities kept casualty toll at zero, and prevented fire from spreading below the roof.

Mayor Orders Full Enforcement

Crackdown On Traffic Violators Under Way

Mayor Dean B. Cranmer has issued written orders to the police department calling for more strict enforcement of city traffic laws.

The orders were issued Wednesday, one day after Mayor Cranmer was verbally "roasted" by several City Council members for what they called "sorely lacking" law enforcement.

Mayor Cranmer's orders to Police Chief Martin Lutsch said:

"All parking regulations must be enforced to the fullest degree, such as double parking on all streets, parking in prohibited areas where signs have been installed, parking on the wrong side of the street and parking too close to intersections.

"The delivery trucks seem to like to park double although they have a place to pull in. This must be enforced for safety's sake. Parking on the sidewalk, in fact, all parking rules shall be put in full force 24 hours a day."

Police started yesterday tagging all vehicles found violating a parking regulation. The result was a steady stream of motorists filing into the mayor's office yesterday, complaining about their vehicles being ticketed.

"Most of these people have been violating the laws for years," Mayor Cranmer remarked, "and they can't understand why they got a ticket for something they have gotten away with for years."

"In most communities, delivery men are allowed certain parking privileges while they are delivering merchandise to a store, but these privileges have been abused in Salem," Mayor Cranmer stated.

"Let people be aware," he added, "No parking signs mean no parking!"

Police have claimed that they have attempted strict enforcement of parking laws before, only to be criticized by individual councilmen for "carrying it too far."

Mayor Cranmer says his orders to police are to ticket all vehicles, including delivery trucks, which are parked in a "no parking" zone.

He said that delivery trucks that pull into metered parking spaces to make deliveries will not be ticketed. "This means while the drivers are actually delivering, not while they are stopped to eat," the mayor emphasized.

In some cases where a store can't be serviced reasonably from a side street or a back alley, loading and unloading areas will be marked off on the street.

One such area was marked off on E. State St. yesterday in front of the J. C. Penney Co. this is for trucks that have been parking in a prohibited zone on S. Lundy to make deliveries.

There is a city ordinance, passed in 1951, which states that free parking may be provided for delivery vehicles and taxi cabs.

Mayor Cranmer says there has been some confusion as to when Salem's parking meters are in operation.

On-street meters are in operation from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays and from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Fridays. Parking is free on Sundays and holidays.

Meters in the three municipal parking lots are in operation from 8 a.m. until midnight everyday except Sunday when they operate from noon until midnight.

Parking in the municipal lots is five cents an hour while the downtown on-street meters take five cents for a half-hour.

U.S. Moon Rocket Poised For Afternoon Launching

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—With the target moving rapidly out of position, the United States today readied its most powerful rocket for an attempt to launch a spacecraft to the moon. Its mission: To take television pictures and land an instrument package to record moonquakes.

Scientists have less than a one-hour period late this afternoon in which to fire the 102-foot-tall Atlas-Agena B vehicle to put the spacecraft — Ranger 3—on the proper course.

If troubles prevent the rocket from getting off the ground in this time, only Saturday will remain in a six-day period when the moon is in the desired position. Failure to launch by Saturday will mean a postponement until the next favorable period starting about Feb. 20.

The shot originally was set for last Monday, but fueling trouble caused a four-day delay.

Ranger 3 is the most complex unmanned space experiment ever attempted by the United States. It involves launching the Agena B second stage of the booster into orbit and, at the precise moment, re-starting the engine to boost the spacecraft's speed to 24,500 miles an hour and start it on its 66-hour voyage to the moon.

If successful, Ranger 3 will relay television pictures of the moon from as close as 15 miles away and will produce the first recordings of seismic activity and other information about the composition of the lunar surface.

The data, plus that to be gathered by more sophisticated machines in the next few years, will help stake out the landing site for the first U.S. manned lunar landing, hopefully by 1967.

The intricate mission involves dozens of events which must occur on a split-second timetable. Included is the firing of another engine 16 hours after launching to jockey the spacecraft into a collision course with the moon.

On the odds for success, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said the assignment is so complex that it has "assigned three identical spacecraft to the task in the hope that at least one will be successful."

Rangers 4 and 5 are to be launched later this year.

Rangers 1 and 2 were launched last fall to test techniques for the moon-landing attempts. Neither was aimed at the moon and each was only partially successful.

However, the space agency felt they provided sufficient data to proceed with Ranger 3.

The United States has shot for the moon six times previously and failed each time. These launchings were designed to either fly close to the moon or orbit it.

The Soviet Union successfully got off two lunar launchings in 1959. Lunik II crashed on the moon but took no pictures and relayed no data after impact. Lunik III whirled into a gigantic orbit around earth and moon and took the first pictures of the moon's dark side.

The Soviet moon pictures were snapped from a distance of 37,284 miles. The Ranger 3 camera was designed to start operating at an altitude of 2,400 miles and to transmit a picture every 10 seconds for 40 minutes down to an altitude of 15 miles. The picture receiving equipment is at the Jet Propulsion Laboratory at Goldstone, Calif.

At 15 miles, the spacecraft is to eject a 12-inch sphere wrapped in a 24-inch coating of shock-absorbing material.

Barring Unforeseen Snags

'Everything Is Go' for Glenn's Orbital Flight

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—In the clipped lingo of rocketry, "everything is go" for America's first try to put an astronaut in orbit Saturday.

Which means that, barring some snag now unforeseen, Marine Corps Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr. will fight his duel with the cosmos — an attempt to whirl around the globe three times in 4½ hours.

Expected launch time is somewhere between 7:30 a.m. (Eastern Standard Time) and 12:30 p.m. If Glenn departs skyward early in this period, he and the ground controllers will aim at three global circuits. If later, the number of orbits will be cut to two or even one.

This is because the rescue teams must have plenty of daylight to fish him and his data-crammed capsule out of the western Atlantic Ocean.

Meanwhile, about a mile and a half from the pad where Glenn's great Atlas rocket stood in readiness today, an even bigger booster was prepared for a reconnaissance mission to the moon.

The Atlas-Agena B, 102-foot tall, was assigned the task of carrying a Ranger 3 spacecraft to the moon, sending back TV pictures as it neared the earth's satellite, and then landing a package of instruments on the lunar surface to flash tidings about any moonquakes.

The firing was scheduled for midafternoon. As for Glenn's Mercury astronaut mission, a big huddle was held at this missile range headquarters Thursday and Walter C. Williams, Mercury operations director, called the roll:

The Air Force reported the Atlas D booster was "go" (ready to go). This Atlas, plus the spacecraft atop it and a 16-foot escape tower on top of that, stands 93 feet tall.

Another officer mentioned that the worldwide tracking system has some minor problems—nothing unusual in view of the tremendous complexities and nothing to pose "any serious threat to the mission."

The Navy said "aye, aye, sir."

Witness In Warren Trial Threatened

DETROIT (AP)—Police are guarding the home of Rocco Ferrera, a contractor in suburban Livonia, following a bomb threat. Ferrera is a key witness in an Ohio graft case.

A man called Ferrera's office Wednesday and told his office manager:

"I'm going to bomb his house and office some time this week."

Ferrera is president of Rocco Ferrera & Co.

Police protection also was provided Al Cicchini, Ferrera's partner, and Eugene Brady, president of the Boam Co., a construction firm in Livonia.

Ferrera is scheduled to testify at the trial of Paul Lamone of Niles, Mich., who was indicted by a grand jury in Warren, Ohio, last September on shakedown charges. Ferrera said he received a similar threat two months ago before he testified in the trial of Frank Cickelli, Trumbull County, Ohio, Democratic chairman.

A jury convicted Cickelli Jan. 21 of arranging for a $35,000 political contribution from Ferrera, Cicchini and Brady. Cickelli, 51, is free on $10,000 bond pending a hearing on a motion for a new trial.

5 Injured In Road Mishaps

3 Lisbon Men Hurt In Rt. 39 Accident

Three Lisbon men were injured one perhaps seriously, in a traffic accident this morning on Rt. 39 near Salineville, and a Salem youth and a Michigan truck driver were hurt in other mishaps in the district Thursday, according to State Highway Patrol reports.

The three Lisbon men, admitted to Salem City Hospital at 9 a.m. today, were listed as:

Francis Lo, 29, of 709 Sunset Drive, lacerations of the lip, contusions of the chest and abdomen, and a possible fractured back.

Bruce Black, 28, of 707 Sunset Drive, fractured pelvis.

Charles Hoffmann, 31, 307 W. Lincoln Way, possible fractured ribs, and contusions of the chest. State Patrolmen, who are still investigating, said their car was involved in a collision with a coal truck which jackknifed.

Kenneth L. Harris, 16, of RD 3, Salem, was treated and released at Salem Central Clinic for lacerations of the tongue received in an accident on Rt. 9 just north of New Garden at 3:45 p.m.

According to the Patrol, Harris, traveling north, came over the crest of a slight hill and struck the rear of a car driven by Roy Lee Hartley, 18, of RD 2, Salem, who was stopped to make a left turn. Harris was cited to Juvenile Court.

Rusk Pushes OAS Ouster Campaign Against Castro

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk pushed a home-stretch drive today to break down stubborn opposition to the U.S. formula for guaranteeing Castro's Cuba.

Brazil led the nations balking at stern treatment of the Havana government. The stand by Latin America's largest nation provoked outspoken criticism from congressional members of the U.S. delegation to the hemisphere foreign ministers' conference.

Rusk arranged to meet once again this morning with the Brazilian, Chilean and Argentine foreign ministers in an attempt to break down their reluctance to vote economic penalties against Cuba and to speed the ouster of the Havana regime from the deliberative council of the Organization of American States.

There was still talk of a prospective deadlock between the points of view of the seven nations advocating a go-slow approach and the other 13, including the United States, backing a tougher line. Fourteen nations—two-thirds of the OAS membership—must approve the declaration on Cuban communism with which the conference is scheduled to end Monday.

Rusk Thursday urged the ministers to adopt a declaration incorporating these four points: (1) Recognition that Cuba's alignment with the Communist world is incompatible with the inter-American system; (2) Exclusion of the Castro regime from OAS functions; (3) Interruption of trade between Cuba and the rest of the Americas, particularly in arms, and (4) Establishment of individual and collective defense against political and indirect aggression in the hemisphere.

Brazil remained the major obstacle to the U.S. drive. But Brazil had support from six other nations—Argentina, Chile, Mexico, Bolivia, Ecuador and Haiti—in its stand against economic sanctions. Uruguay also was reported ready to balk at any economic punishment.

There also were difficulties be-

Rebels Warned By De Gaulle

Demands Quick End To Algerian War

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle reportedly has warned the Algerian rebel government unless it agrees quickly to a cease-fire in the seven-year civil war he will go ahead without it to create a new Algeria.

The newspaper Paris-Press said the French leader gave the rebel National Liberation Front until the end of February to join a new provisional administration for the North African territory.

De Gaulle's proposition to the rebel regime reportedly amounted to an ultimatum.

As outlined by Paris-Press it was this: If the FLN representatives accept his plan and join in a cease-fire, a nine-man executive will be established in which the FLN will have three seats, other Moslem Algerian groups three, and the French three.

Should the leaders of the rebellion reject this proposal, an executive will be set up without them to chart Algeria's path to independence.

Fire which completely destroyed their dwelling routed a Glasgow family at 4:30 a.m. today.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Mick and their children fled in their nightclothes as the flames roared through their story and a half frame home on Madison Twp. Road 875.

Firemen from West Point, Highlandtown and Wellsview responded to the alarm and managed to save another building near the blazing structure.

Firemen believe the fire began in the cellar, but the cause has not been determined.

The loss is estimated to run into the thousands of dollars. Highlandtown and West Point firemen remained at the scene until about 8 a.m.

Governor of Montana Dies In Plane Crash

WOLF CREEK, Mont. (AP)—Gov. Donald G. Nutter of Montana, his executive secretary, the state agriculture commissioner, and three crew members perished Thursday in a plane crash.

Death of the Republican governor, who recently refused to proclaim United Nations Day in Montana, shocked this state of about 675,000 inhabitants.

Nutter, 46, a World War II bomber pilot and former state GOP chairman, completed his first year in office Jan. 1. He was elected in November 1960 to a four-year term ending in January 1965.

Taking over as chief executive will be the lieutenant governor, Republican Tim M. Babcock, 42, a Billings truck firm operator and former state legislator.

"I've lost the best friend I had and Montana has lost the best friend it had," said Babcock from the governor's mansion where he was called by close friends of the governor's attractive, dark-haired widow, Maxine.

Killed with Nutter when the plane apparently went out of control in turbulent weather and crashed in a mountain canyon near Wolf Creek, were his executive secretary, Dennis B. Gordon, 38, former Billings oilman and lawyer; State Agriculture Commissioner Edward C. Wren, 43, a Cascade grain farmer and stock rancher; and crew members, pilot Hanson, co-pilot Joseph DeBlard, and engineer "Chico" DeBlard, all of Great Falls.

The twin-engine C47 National Guard plane was carrying the governor and his party to a speaking engagement at Cut Bank in northern Montana near the Canadian border. The plane crashed about 3:30 p.m., about 30 minutes after the plane left Montana's capital city 35 miles south of Wolf Creek.

"The plane was demolished," reported rancher Ed Wirth after visiting the crash scene which officers quickly blocked off. "Trees were afire as were pieces of aircraft," he said.

There was no official, public confirmation of any of the deaths, but families of the victims said they were given confirmation by National Guard officials.

Street Fund Forces Cut

Employees Working 32-Hour Week

Service Director James Feiler announced that hours for street department personnel have been cut from 40 per week to 32 due to a lack of money in the street fund.

Earlier this week, City Council voted to borrow $5,000 to enable the street department to meet its next two payrolls.

Service Director James Feiler said the choice had to be made whether to lay off two or three men or reduce the hours of all employees.

He pointed out that city employees who are laid off are not eligible to collect unemployment compensation. Feiler also explained that the men he would have had to lay off have particular skills which would be hard to replace next summer when the street department is busiest.

The service director said the fact that several relief workers have been assigned to street department work has nothing to do with the decision to reduce the hours of full-time employees. "The cutback is due to financial conditions only," Feiler emphasized.

Feiler said some people have questioned him as to why his men have been sweeping streets by hand this week when the city has a street-sweeping machine. He explained the machine is not generally used during the winter since water used in the sweeping process tends to freeze on the street.

He said the men who have been sweeping the streets by hand are relief workers who are not permitted to operate city equipment except for driving trucks.

"We can't work the relief workers into our regular crews because we don't know from one day to the next who or how many there will be," Feiler said. "They are assigned to us so we try to keep them busy with practical jobs."

The relief workers are paid by the state at a rate of $1.50 an hour. The city pays only their state compensation insurance. The men are Salem residents who had been unemployed. Currently there are between 10 and 15 relief workers with the street department.

Horizontal Frontier Town

By AL SIMPSON
Repository State Editor

COCOA BEACH, Fla.—This is the funniest frontier town I've ever seen.

And I've seen some frontier outposts, driving to, from and through Alaska via the Alaska Highway.

But there the horizontal frontier—the bush country—lies just outside the town limits. Here the frontier is a vertical one. And it starts up there where airplane wings refuse to carry man farther.

As I look up into the vastness of the clear blue Florida sky and then look northeastward to the Cape, where the Atlas is poised to hurl John Glenn into that frontier, I get a flashback to the days when, as a boy, I attended the Stark County Fair in Canton.

THE PICTURE I see is of myself watching a gas-filled toy balloon which had slipped from my grasp and, with its string trailing beneath, was drifting higher and higher into the sky until, at last, it disappeared into the vast unknown, never to return.

I recall my wonderment about the balloon's voyage and how I would have liked to have gone with it.

I imagine John Glenn may have had a similar experience as a child. And now he is going to do just that—except he'll return to tell us all about it.

Today, as I write, I'm looking straight across the Atlantic Ocean to Spain. I can't see it but I know it's there.

AND BECAUSE Spain is there and because it sent Columbus this way, our New World was discovered.

It seems rather an interesting thought that here at Cape Canaveral, not too far from where the New World was discovered, a new breed of discoverers will blast off to explore, not just a new world but other worlds.

I refer to the Saturn missions (incidentally, that was the giant saturn that I saw through the binoculars yesterday (which will follow the orbital flights as we push forward our space exploration program).

I rather expected this frontier town might be a little like the Fourth of July celebrations common in Ohio towns 20 or 30 years ago, with skyrockets going off all over the place. But it isn't.

I HAVEN'T even seen one missile go up yet, although one went up about 4 a.m. Wednesday. It was a military rocket designed to put five satellites in orbit at a time, but the second stage was a failure.

Actually, you could drive through Cocoa Beach and not be able to tell it from any other Florida beach town except for the commercial application of space talk. Virtually every name in the lexicon of space has been used commercially in some way or another.

For example: "Missile Realty Co.," "Spaceport Electronics," "Satellite Motel," and so on.

Even the night club acts are billed in "space-ese." Currently featured at the Starlite Motel are the "Girls in Orbit Revue."

THE IMPACT of the engineers and other space scientists here also is evident, talkwise.

Everything here is "programmed." The word is so much in use among technical men that others have picked it up, including newsmen.

And then there's the "status" question: "Are you involved critically?"

If you can reply, "Yes, we do the guidance on the Atlas," you've got it made. But if you're a newspaperman, the only thing critical about you is, can you get your story and file it by deadline.

And yet it's amazing how fast we humans can absorb a new "language" when brought into contact with it on a working basis.

THIS ALL serves to remind me that I must tell you about Dudley Paterson, my new-found friend from across the border in Winnipeg, Canada. Perhaps I can get to that tomorrow if I don't get programmed out of it.

After all, if I get critically involved, poor Dudley's story would become just so much space chaff.

And that would be a ruddy show, you know!

Gibraltar, mighty rock standing at the junction of the Atlantic and the Mediterranean, was known to the ancients as one of the Pillars of Hercules guarding the gate to the known world.

Actor May Face Presidential Veto

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Peter Fonda, youngest of the acting Fonda family, appeared the hottest prospect today for the role of John F. Kennedy in the film version of the President's war exploits.

Fonda, 22, spent all day Wednesday testing for the starring role in "PT 109" the story of how Kennedy and 10 others survived the sinking of their PT boat after it was rammed by a Japanese destroyer in 1943. Kennedy was 26 at the time.

"I haven't got the Boston accent yet," said Fonda, son of Henry and brother of Jane. "I haven't had time; I was testing 10 days after I was asked to come to the studio. But it should not be hard to pick up these flat A's."

Peter Fonda made his pro debut last fall on Broadway in "Blood, Sweat and Stanley Poole," a flop that won him good notices. He has not yet made a movie.

Whoever wins the studio's nod—and many other actors have been considered—faces a presidential veto. The President has reserved the right to pass judgment on the actor who impersonates him.

Stark Historical Unit To Construct Center

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The Stark County Historical Society plans to build a new modernist center near the McKinley Monument with the $445,602 received from almost 1,500 donors in Canton, Massillon and Alliance.

Gervis S. Brady, society president, announced Thursday night completion of the successful drive started more than a year ago. He said a major contribution toward the goal was a $100,000 gift from the Timken Roller Bearing Co. and the Timken Foundation.

The proposed center will house a William McKinley Historical Hall, a science hall for industrial displays, a planetarium, a library, an auditorium, offices and store-rooms.

When I Was His Age

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The father was obviously deeply distressed. "I'm worried about my son," he said. "He's 18, and can't make up his mind what he wants to be."

"Oh, he's doing well enough in his studies, and he doesn't get into trouble. But he can't seem to decide on a career."

"What's the matter with the younger generation today? So many of them seem lost and drifting. Don't they realize the world is getting more competitive every day? They can't dawdle forever about what they want to do in life."

"Why, when I was his age—" and the man went into a long harangue about how, early in youth, he had decided on a profession, stuck with it, and everything had turned out pretty well for him—all things considered.

Unconsciously, what he really was saying was, "Why can't my son be like me?"

I couldn't help feeling sorry for the father. His distress was easily understandable. Every parent wants to see his children pick a worthwhile life goal as soon as possible, and buckle down to the pursuit of it.

But I couldn't restrain a deeper feeling of kinship and sympathy for that particular man's son.

It seems to me that too many parents today try to hurry their daughters into marriage or their sons into a safe niche in some big safe corporation.

"I just want to see them settled in something," they say of their children.

They overlook the fact that nothing can be more unsettling to a young person than to find, a few years later, he has settled in the name of security for a role he isn't really suited for. Such a person often comes to disaster in middle age.

What is the real rush to pick a lifelong career so early anyway? While it is important for anyone to find out what he really wants to do with his life, it is equally important for him to find out what he doesn't want to do with it.

Youth is a reaching, questioning, uncertain time. Youth is the best time for trial and error. Youth is the time for trying on separate dreams until you find one that fits you, and can be worn ever after.

In most parts of the world a young man doesn't have to worry about a career. He does what his father did.

The glory of America is that it is a land of many choices. A young man or woman is surrounded by opportunity and change. Each can choose from a hundred or more callings, if he has the will and energy to do so.

Youth Is Penalized For False Solicitation

LISBON — A 15-year-old East Liverpool youth who, with Milay Jenrett, 20, formerly of East Liverpool, collected $1.65 for their own use under March of Dimes auspices, had to apologize to Richard Brian, county Dimes drive chairman, at a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin Thursday afternoon.

The youth also must earn and donate $20 to the March of Dimes fund. He was placed under a 5 p.m. curfew until school is out in the summer and must report each Saturday to Chris Pusey, juvenile officer.

Jenrett, who was cited for contributing to the delinquency of the boy, pleaded not guilty to the charge. Judge Tobin set his hearing for Feb. 5 at 1:30 p.m. Jenrett is presently serving a 60-day jail sentence for his part in the escape following a hearing in East Liverpool Municipal Court.

The $1.65 was also turned over to the March of Dimes by Judge Tobin.

SUES MASSILLON FIRM

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — A California firm has filed a $2.9 million suit because it alleges a 20-year sales agreement between it and the Perry Rubber Co. of Massillon was broken last Dec. 20.

The firm, W. A. Bushman Associates, Inc., of Los Angeles, maintained the agreement that began Jan. 1, 1955, named it to represent Perry in sales of surgical rubber gloves throughout the United States. Bushman said Perry owes it $70,730,064, plus interest, for commissions before cancellation of the agreement, and $2.9 million for commissions and profits it could expect to make during the balance of the agreement.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN

Scare Tales of Epilepsy Untrue

Here is a letter I felt I must share with you.

"I am writing you in reference to a letter you received from a young lady about to be married, who asked whether or not the medication she was taking to control her epilepsy would interfere with her becoming pregnant."

"You are probably wondering why I am so interested. My reason is that I, too, am an epileptic to whom all kinds of frightening things were told regarding pregnancy and children. Probably the same things this young lady was told. However, thanks to my doctor I was able to put my mind at ease and not worry. I now have four children ranging from 7 years to 8 months old."

"All are in perfect health and I've never felt better than I do now. My spells have decreased immensely. So I know what it is to worry about something because I was once in the same spot as this young lady. And, with my doctor's assurances, I carried on as I know she can."

AND HERE'S A LETTER from a less charitable reader. "I felt like screaming when you advised a 35-year-old with a fibroid tumor to have her uterus removed instead of radium or X-rays that would have saved the ovaries. So that then she would not have had to go through an artificial change."

"Weren't you trying to help the surgeons make a killing? why can't you doctors be honest? How could you tell her she would have no more trouble than if she had her appendix removed? You know that's a fairy tale as she would have heat flashes, headaches, dizziness, depressed feelings and a million other complaints that you men know nothing about."

"I had the same operation performed you advised and I haven't felt good one day in the five years since I was operated on. I'm only 45 now and I feel like I was 101."

DEAR "READER" I'm sorry you think so poorly of me. But even sorrier that you are so woefully misinformed. And, if you'll read my answer I'll try to straighten you out. The operation for removal of a fibroid uterus is called a hysterectomy (hiss-stir-rect-toe-me).

Whether it is performed through an abdominal incision or through the vagina (abdominal or vaginal hysterectomy) and whether just the body of the uterus is removed or both the body and the cervix (where cancers are most apt to develop), the surgeon goes to great pains to save the ovaries for the very purpose of PREVENTING the later occurrence of an artificial "change."

On the other hand, when efforts are made to shrink uterine fibroids with radium or X-rays, as you suggest, the shrinkage is accomplished through PRODUCTION of an artificial menopause.

Hence the advice I gave the young woman was advanced for the purpose of saving her from the very distress you accuse me of inflicting on her. And the recommendation you suggest would inflict on her the very distress you would have her avoid. Maybe you ought to write on the blackboard 100 times, "I must not give advice until I know whereof I speak."

News of Interest to Farmers

Feed Grain Program

Growers of corn, grain sorghum, and barley now may sign up to take part in the 1962 feed grain program. L. L. Moff, chairman of the Mahoning County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, announced today.

The sign-up period will extend from Feb. 5 through March 30, 1962.

Operation of the program, the chairman explained, will be similar to the 1961 feed grain program.

Likewise, its objectives are the same—(1) To increase farm income; (2) to further reduce the excess feed grain stocks; (3) to reduce government cost of farm risk of serious overproduction of meats, poultry, and dairy products; and (5) to assure consumers of fair and stable prices for these products.

All producers of corn, grain sorghum, or barley are eligible to take part in the feed grain program, which calls for the diversion of acreage formerly planted to one or more of these crops into an approved soil-conserving use. The program is voluntary, but program participation by farmers who produce these feed grain crops is required if they want to be eligible for price support on their feed grain crops, including oats and rye.

Moff said that for corn and grain sorghum, there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent from the farm's 1959-60 average acreage of these crops and the producer must not exceed the farm's barley base. For barley, there must be a minimum reduction of 20 per cent in the farm's average 1959-60 barley acreage, and the producer must not exceed the farm's corn and grain sorghum base.

Producers of oats and rye will be eligible for 1962-crop price support if they comply with the corn-grain sorghum and barley program.

WASHINGTON (AP) — As was forecast last fall, net income of the nation's farmers in 1961 turned out to be $12.7 billion, an increase of $1 billion over 1960.

The Agriculture Department said in a farm demand and price situation report today that final surveys bore out the expected upturn. Net income is the amount operators have left after paying production expenses. The 1961 income was the highest since 1953 when it totaled $13.9 billion. The record high was $17.3 billion in 1947.

The report said that farmers actually collected $1.5 billion more last year from sale of products and government payments than the year before. But a third of this increase, or $500 million, was required to pay higher production costs.

The department said 1961 farm production expenses, totaling $26.9 billion, were the highest of record.

Farm wage rates rose 1.5 per cent over the year and interest charges and property taxes increased 7 and 8 per cent, respectively, the department added.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Steady prices for meat animals during February and March were forecast today by the Agriculture Department.

In a report on the livestock situation, the department said supplies of hogs available for slaughter market during the remainder of the quarter are such as to indicate relatively stable hog prices in line with a year ago average of $17.50 a hundred pounds. It said there is prospect for stable supplies of feed beef which, it added, would indicate steady prices for good and choice slaughter steers and heifers through the first quarter of this year.

But the department expects producer milk prices to average slightly below levels of the first quarter of 1961, reflecting increases in production and a decline in consumption.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The capacity of commercial grain storage establishments in this country increased nearly half a billion bushels, or 10 per cent, in 1961.

The Agriculture Department said the total capacity now was 5,489,000,000 bushels.

This latest increase comes at a time when the government is attempting to reduce grain supplies under commodity supply control programs. The purpose is to cut government costs on storage of surplus supplies and to reduce price depressing oversupplies.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Users are helping the government cut down on surplus of corn, the major livestock feed grain.

An Agriculture Department survey shows that use of corn by feeders, processors and shippers abroad during the last quarter of 1961 was nearly 13 per cent larger than in the last quarter of 1960. The total usage was 1,138,000,000 bushels, compared with 1,008,000,000 a year earlier.

This increased consumption, coupled with a reduction in production under a new feed program last year, put total U.S. stocks of corn on Jan. 1 at 4,494,000,000 bushels, or 4 per cent less than a year earlier.

AUTO KILLS WOMAN

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—An Akron mother of three is dead today as the result of a freak car accident in front of her home. She was Mrs. Thomas W. Tate, 34.

Police said she was getting out of a car Thursday when her fingers caught in a car door, pulling her to the ground. The driver of the car told police the auto moved only a foot when he heard a scream and stopped. The woman was found lying on the pavement.

If Progress Could Be Bought

It is easy to get the idea that the United States is struggling uphill with its program of progress for Latin America.

In the current meeting at Punta del Este in Uruguay there also is strong resistance to U.S. ideas for hastening the casting out of Castro in Cuba.

In the background of the Alliance for Progress, the multi-billion-dollar plan for neatening up Latin America with U.S. funds and technical know-how seems to be having an uphill struggle, too. People in a position to know say this may be one of the worst blunders of the still young Kennedy administration. They say the Alliance for Progress has confronted Latin American governments with specifications for progress that are beyond their reach.

We have been reading the Declaration to the Peoples of America, which is the official statement issued last August by the special meeting of the Inter-American Economic and Social Council at the Ministerial Level held in Punta del Este—and no wonder there's an uphill pull to get the Alliance for Progress in motion.

THE DECLARATION says the members of the alliance pledge themselves to reform their tax laws, "demanding more from those who have most, to punish tax evasion severely and to redistribute the national income in order to benefit those who are most in need, while . . . promoting savings and investment and reinvestment of capital." Is the United States going to do this too?

It says they will maintain monetary policies in countries whose illiteracy rates range upward to 85 per cent of their populations.

It says they will wipe out unemployment, a miracle that even our own Secretary of Labor Goldberg is backing away from because he doesn't know where to begin.

It says they will maintain monetary policies that will provide adequate basis for economic development, a tender point in the United States at present, because the Kennedy administration is being accused of putting its political finger in the eye of some of this country's would-be economic developers.

And by way of a really sweeping statement, it says "the countries of Latin America agree to devote a steadily increasing share of their own resources to economic and social development, and to make the reforms necessary to assure that all share fully in the fruits of the Alliance for Progress."

THIS IS THE kind of statement that is too rich and drippy for even the suave diplomats and political careerists who call the governmental turn in Latin America. Government service for them is not so much a challenge to give everybody a share in the fruits of progress as it is to cope with opponents who are trying to ease them out of power with violence if necessary.

Yet, in the face of all this, the United States is trying to tell its American neighbors how to dispose of Castro in Cuba. Is it any wonder if our neighbors sometimes murmur to one another behind their clenched fists, "Is there anything these damned Yanquis admit they can't buy with money?"

The money in this instance is one billion dollars on the line, plus another 10 billion by 1971. Don't bet Latin America won't get it.

No Model T. Space Capsules

Everything about Col. John H. Glenn, Jr., is being handled with such solemnity on the eve of his orbital flight that an impulse to chuckle was hard to check when the latest postponement was announced.

The impulse was triggered by the explanation that the colonel's space capsule had been designed in such a way it was necessary to take the instrument panel apart to repair a flaw in the oxygen system.

Every auto mechanic in the country must have chuckled. These are the men who have gone quietly crazy while auto designers put distributors in inaccessible places, made fuel pump replacements a job for extortionists, rigged up the battery so it took a half hour to remove and another half hour to put back, plus an office call to a doctor for a sacroiliac sprain, distorted automotive design into the only way to remove a spark plug was to be lowered into the engine compartment on the end of a boom, with a special wrench for every different make of car and gussied up the horseless carriage with so many gadgeted refinements that all of one man's time was required to read special instructions for their maintenance.

Space capsules are still crude. But if the designers already have caught on to the trick of making it necessary to remove the instrument panel to get at the rammer, imagine what it will be like later on when they add the double reciprocating floosies, power windows, an all-weather heating and cooling system and automatic whoosher-poozers.

Somehow the space age isn't as intriguing as it was before they told us the Model T space capsule has been skipped. We're starting in with the de lux model—the one you can't even get out of the repair shop the same day.

Not Quite a Royal Appointment

Clare Boothe Luce has had a romp in a current magazine with the subject of Jacqueline Kennedy's clothes designers, which reminds some of us who wouldn't know one designer from another that this sort of thing could get out of hand.

Nothing can keep women from eyeing each other in private wars over clothes. But if they used their claws too aggressively we the people could pull their claws out by the roots with laws forbidding citizens of the United States from taking advantage of the White House.

Under monarchy it's a racket to claim goods and services are being purveyed to the throne by special appointment. It's one of the ways royalty manages to keep down overhead. But there's no need for it in the United States, least of all in the case of the Kennedys.

According to Mrs. Luce, Mrs. Kennedy always should show a strong preference for American clothes designers and give the brushoff to French designers.

All that remains to be done now to Mrs. Luce is for a snoop to catalogue her wardrobe to see whether she practices what she preaches—and that, presumably, will be done. But it's a matter between the two ladies, unless it gets out of hand.

The matter between all ladies and the rest of us who don't care what label is sewed in a garment as long as it doesn't look like a feed bag made over to order on a sewing machine on the kitchen table is this:

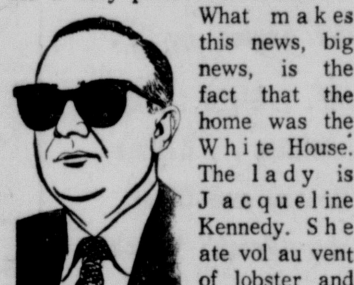

If you ladies and the men designers ever get into a girly-type fight over who gets credit for our First Lady's wardrobe, with squealing and pouting and scratching and biting, we the people will pass a law forbidding anyone to acknowledge he is doing anything by "appointment" to the White House.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON, D.C. The lady of the house was out last Tuesday evening. Her husband was having some men over for a very private business talk.

What makes this news, big news, is the fact that the home was the White House. The lady is Jacqueline Kennedy. She ate vol au vent of lobster and cardinal rack of lamb at the Red Fox Tavern in Middleburg, Va.

And the guests of John Kennedy were David McDonald, leader of the steel union, Roger Blough, chairman of the board of U.S. Steel and Arthur Goldberg.

They came quietly through a side door. They arrived at 6 and listened very hard to a tough talking President until 8 o'clock. They left him, but Mr. McDonald and Mr. Blough did not depart the White House. They went alone into another room. There, until 11 p.m., they discussed the President's pressure on them during their secret conference with him.

The President had lowered the boom on them.

Bluntly he had told them there could be no steel strike.

President Kennedy said, in effect, the government absolutely would have to take swift action if there was a shutdown. He would have to go to Congress. A riproaring conflict between the big steel union and the 12 major steel companies would bring new labor laws, perhaps compulsory arbitration.

THE PRESIDENT'S personal intervention appeared to be the handiwork of some "outside personality"—someone playing the role of intermediary, such as Phil Regan, the ex-singing cop who has become a topnotch human relations specialist.

For years he has worked closely with McDonald. It was Regan who was the catalyst in bringing Dave McDonald into the White House for a private discussion with Dwight Eisenhower during the last steel strike.

Unlike his predecessor, who attempted to stay out of labor relations as much as possible, John Kennedy decided on personal intervention six months before the crisis date of June 30. The report is that he personally telephoned the leaders of both sides, so intensely does he feel about a quick settlement.

For this intensity there are many reasons—national, international, political and personal.

The President knows of studies, for example, made recently by some eminent economists. They put the blame for recent recessions on stockpiling—the storing of huge inventories of all sorts of materials.

BACK IN DECEMBER it came to the President's attention that steel users were renting every available inch of space near their plants from coast to coast. Steel warehouses soon would be overflowing.

To some this means a definite recession in the final six months of '62. Steel layoffs would spread. National purchasing power would be cut. Other major industries would be hit. The recession would deepen.

At the moment, however, the President believes the nation is heading for a boom. He wants to show a steady continuing upward trend. A sudden downward trend would burst the boom. It could affect our allies. It would have political repercussions.

It is reasonable to assume much of all this was discussed by the four men at the off the record White House session. But there is no reason to assume, or not to assume, that the President convinced his sparring guests.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY is as enthusiastic over increased costs in its next contract as Defense Secretary McNamara is over oratorical generals.

The United Steelworkers of America wants a little more money, better unemployment benefits and a swifter approach to an eventual guaranteed annual wage of six to seven thousand dollars.

Then, there are the scores of changes sought in working conditions, classifications and the mass of intricacies created by such coming innovations as an International Business Machine computer running a blast furnace.

McDonald rushed back to Pittsburgh. There, on Wednesday morning, Jan. 24, he conferred with such executives as Conrad Cooper, U.S. Steel vice president—spokesman for the industry in the 1959 negotiations.

There will be other meetings. But when they broke up for lunch Wednesday noon, there was no certainty that the message to John Kennedy and Arthur Goldberg would encourage anyone.

Economic Double Talk

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'Fine Print' In JFK's Report Reveals All

The last thing the Kennedy administration would really wish to do is to encourage inflation and a drop in the purchasing power of the dollar. The administration nevertheless is, in effect, telling labor unions that they can demand the benefits of the savings made by machinery not only in their own industry but in other industries as well.

To note this surprising trend takes a careful reading of the "fine print" in the report of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, to which Mr. Kennedy gave his blessing when he commended it in a message to Congress this week. Basically, there is in it the mistaken belief that the economy can be managed by an application of doctrines and theories at variance with actual experience. Discussing collective bargaining and the setting of prices, the report says:

"The guideposts suggested here as aids to public understanding are not concerned primarily with the relation of employers and employees to each other, but rather with their joint relation to the rest of the economy."

"Productivity is a guide rather than a rule for appraising wage and price behavior for several reasons."

Unfortunately, the difference between a "guide" and a "rule" vanishes when dogmatic statements about wage and price behavior are given the implied, if not explicit, approval of the White House. For, disregarding almost immediately their own broad approach, the economic advisers go on to state some rather definite principles as follows:

"It is desirable that labor and management should bargain explicitly about the distribution of the income of particular firms or industries. It is, however, undesirable that they should bargain implicitly about the general price level."

"Excessive wage settlements which are paid for through price increases in major industries put direct pressure on the general price level and produce spillover and imitative effects throughout the economy. Such settlements may fail to redistribute income within the industry involved; rather they redistribute income between that industry and other segments of the economy through the mechanism of inflation."

THIS APPEARS to be a statement of what does happen as a consequence of labor demands, but the president's council of economic advisers on the very next page of their report negate most of what they have advised.

They introduce a contradictory definition which the labor unions will find stimulating. It is right down their alley, and reads as follows:

"The general guide for noninflationary wage behavior is that the rate of increase in wage rates—including fringe benefits—in each industry be equal to the trend rate of over-all productivity increase. General acceptance of this guide would maintain stability of labor cost per unit of output for the economy as a whole—though not of course for individual industries."

The New York Herald Tribune in an editorial exposes the economic fallacy of this "general guide" as follows:

"If the average annual gain in productivity per man hour throughout the economy were to be taken as 3 per cent, then a 3 per cent annual hike in wages for each industry would be in order. For some industries this would represent a rise greater than productivity, for others less, but on balance the average of unit labor costs would remain constant."

"What the council leaves out of its equations is the motive force behind the advances in productivity. These advances don't just happen by themselves. They have to be made to happen. And they are not made to happen by the hourly wage earners, who more likely will have fought their tooth and nail as threats to job security."

"They depend on the vision, skills and daring of technicians and entrepreneurs, backed by the willingness of investors to gamble the needed capital."

"WHAT MOBILIZES these forces is the hope of cutting unit labor costs, and thus either increasing profits directly or making the product more competitive by lowering its price."

"It's not the man who is becoming more productive but the machine on which he works."

Yet the President's Council of Economic Advisers evidently thinks that to give to labor virtually all the savings of the added productivity need not be "inflationary" nor "disruptive of over all price stability."

Is management expected to receive nothing additional in return for the money it has invested for labor saving equipment? Evidently, it is to be discouraged from raising its prices to get an added income. Thus, the report reaches this conclusion:

"But when a disagreement between management and labor is resolved by passing the bill to the rest of the economy, the bill is paid in depreciated currency to the ultimate advantage of no one."

THE NET of it is that in cases where labor gets in wages more than the benefits of the increased productivity—as it so often demands and brings on a strike to achieve—it would appear to be all right to increase prices.

But management, due to competitive conditions, often finds itself unable to raise prices. So presumably it should not pass on to the public the added labor costs and must instead face a reduction in profits and cut or omit dividends. That's hardly the way to run a successful business.

As for unions, it's a green light for increased wage demands. It will hardly discourage big strikes and especially the threatened strike in the steel industry this summer.

Just Like Spring

By TRUMAN TWILL

Spring will be as coy this year as it always is. It will play hard to catch all through February, March and April.

When we finally corner it some merry, merry day in May, it will burst into tears and the next time we catch up to it June will be half gone and so will we.

But at this time of year we should remember that Spring is more a state of mind than a state of climate. My springlike state of mind happened to hit me the day after the temperature had gone below zero. When it occurred I was ready and put up no resistance. I'm through with my Winter state of mind. I have shaken my overcoat for all purposes except long distance walking and have been taking strolls in the evening. I am thinking about grass seed and how many rose bushes the Twillery can afford to stake itself to this year.

But chiefly I am thinking about the lambs we are hoping to add to the roster this Spring and to begin to start to commence to get ready for their arrival. This is one part of Spring that always arrives on schedule. It doesn't wait until June except in exceptional circumstances.

Years ago when everything about sheep was as mysterious as most things about them still are I used to think it would be a fine idea to have the lambs born when the weather was nice, instead of during blizzards and deep freezes. It still would be a fine idea from a shepherd's standpoint.

But it doesn't seem to work well for the lambs. They do better if they come into the world when the odds are against their survival.

It was a shock to learn last fall that one of my fellow herders had new lambs running around his place during the early part of football season; he said it happens all the time. I was under the impression that all lambs were born in the late Winter and early Spring.

That showed my ignorance. Everything now is ready for Spring. The lying-in rooms have been prepared for the expectant mothers.

There is a question mark this year: What will the new pup—our "Rottenwollie"—think of lambs? She has taken a deep shine to grown sheep and is beginning to spend much time in their company. Will she think lambs are kittens and try to carry them in her mouth?

If she tries it, she had better be braced for the shock of her life. Sheep are timid. They will lie down and die before they will fight. But let anyone fool around with a new lamb and pow! Right in the sauerkraut.

Once Over

New York's newly imported traffic untangler took a swing at doctors and U.N. diplomats for parking habits. Any doctor who uses his auto to get anywhere in a metropolis should consult a doctor. (At the end of the trip he needs one.) He himself is engaging in the stress, strain and worryment which he tells his patients to avoid. He is really raising his own blood-pressure reaching high blood-pressure victims.

By the time he reaches patient he is in worse shape than the man who called him.

Outside of all this, it is not physicians who are clogging up streets, ignoring every law, ordinance and edict.

Those huge trucks tying up traffic are not transporting doctors.

The trailer-trucks brushing off everybody's rights are not on any mission to help sick and perhaps perform life-or-death operations.

These vehicles cause more traffic jams in an hour than doctors cause in a year.

New commissioner also tees off on diplomats for contributing to traffic jams. Here he is on safer ground. If U.N. delegates were sincere in loud arguments for happier and better world they would know their limousines left in crowded streets are no help.

There is something screwballly in picture of diplomats sounding off in U.N. about more orderly world, less chaos and brotherly love while their giant-size autos arouse anger, exasperation and warlike attitudes just outside the building.

"We must stand together for peaceful solutions," roars a delegate, ignoring fact that cops, cabbies, civilian drivers and traffic experts are in a battle to get his car out of their way in street below.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Our 18-year-old son signed up for the Army. When he told his mother, she carried on with such hysterics you would have thought the boy had committed a terrible crime.

Frankly, I believe the Army will be good for him. He must serve his time eventually, so I see nothing wrong if he gets his service over before college.

My wife is making life unbearable for everyone. She acts as if the Army was contrived to rob mothers of their sons. She's mad at him because I refuse to side with her.

The boy will be gone soon, but I'll be here—taking the punishment for goodness knows how long. How can I keep her from driving me nuts?—J.B.

Dear J.B.: Your wife probably is going through a difficult time of life. This, added to the anxiety of "losing" her son, has tipped her emotional canoe.

Her hysterical reaction to the boy's enlistment suggests she is too deeply involved with him, emotionally. The separation probably will be useful for all concerned.

A doctor can give your wife medication to relieve her anxiety. He may suggest therapy if she doesn't snap out of it. In the meantime, her ranting and raving will be easier to take if you bear in mind that she's a sick woman.

Weeps Alone

Dear Ann: No problem—I just want to share with your readers a lesson I learned the hard way. Maybe it's an old story but I've just discovered that people are no damned good.

Through 35 years of married life my husband and I exchanged wedding anniversary greetings with several couples who had been our close friends since bride and groom days.

Six months ago my beloved husband passed away. Yesterday was our wedding anniversary and I had to face it alone. I didn't receive even one phone call, telegram or greeting card.

Now I understand "Laugh and the world laughs with you; Weep and you weep alone."—A LONE WELPER.

Dear Weeper: It would have been nice if someone had invited you out, then you would not have spent the day alone brooding. But a telegram or greeting card would have been out of order.

When a mate passes away the anniversary date ceases to be a time for celebration. So please don't hold this against your friends.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a normal 16-year-old girl and my boy friend is 16, also normal. We go steady and see each other about five nights a week.

He has a car and we usually go for a ride and park along the river just to talk. Sometimes we neck. When he gets a little too fresh I warn him to behave. He says he can't help it.

Frankly, Ann, it's getting so I can't help it either. What do you advise?—GARBARA.

Dear Barbara: SOMEBODY had better help it or you two may find yourselves in serious trouble. First of all, five dates a week is too much together-ness.

And parking "just to talk" is dynamite. When the moon is bright and the stars are twinkling you can run out of conversation mighty fast.

Franklin School Vote Postponed

The County Election Board at East Liverpool today ordered an indefinite postponement in a special election which had been scheduled Feb. 13 in the Southern Local School District on the transfer of Franklin Township—part of the Southern Local territory—to jurisdiction of Carroll County school district.

Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk of the board, explained that the action was taken after the board confirmed that an appeal will be filed with the Seventh District Court of Appeals from a Columbus County decision that paved the way for the special election.

A Franklin Township group is scheduled to go into higher court to argue against a ruling by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard which held that Southern Local, following its consolidation with the former Franklin Local District, is "a legal district" and that electors throughout Southern Local should have a voice in the special election on the question of the transfer of territory.

The postponement was decided upon "to save the taxpayers' money" in election preparations, O'Hanlon said, adding that "not a penny has been spent so far."

The Soviets now contend that detection methods are so far advanced that the nuclear powers can detect violations of a test ban, and that the network of international observation posts demanded by the West is only a device to put Western spies on Soviet territory.

In agreeing 10 days ago to the previous demand for a merger of the test ban and disarmament negotiations, the United States said it and Britain "continue to view the conclusion of a test ban treaty as a matter of the highest priority."

Wilson Rips Other 2 Commissioners

COLUMBIANA — Frank Wilson of Wellsville, the lone Democrat among the county commissioners, charged the two Republican members "have elevated the needs of the dog above those of the people" at a meeting of the Columbiana Men's Democratic Club here Thursday night.

Wilson said he was referring specifically to eviction of children from the Kyes Memorial Home in East Palestine and construction of a $4,000 dog pound.

He declared the $4,000 would have operated the East Palestine Home for approximately four months, and also declared no bids were sought for the dog pound.

The Republican members, Wilson said, have constructed the dog pound, closed the receiving home, cut the salaries of those who work and pay taxes, neglected the aged at the County Home and "severely hampered" the safety of all the people by cutting funds for the sheriff's office.

Wilson also declared he opposed the County Home levy. "I don't believe in patching up a dilapidated fire trap," he said.

De Gaulle

De Gaulle reportedly made it clear France has gone as far as it will go in making concessions. The French leader, who reportedly outlined his bold move to his Cabinet Thursday, is scheduled to make a television speech Feb. 5 and may disclose the details of his plan to the nation.

De Gaulle has threatened in the past that failure to reach a negotiated settlement would result in partitioning of the sprawling North African territory into European and Moslem districts. The one million Europeans would be concentrated in the big bustling coastal cities of Algiers, Oran, Bone and Constantine and along the fertile coast—where most of them already live—and the Moslems would be left to fend for themselves in the arid backlands.

The Algerian rebel army has been comparatively quiet during recent months since the resumption of secret peace talks with the French. There have been repeated rumors of progress in these talks but no official word has been forthcoming from either side.

The charges against them, Cicelli and Lamonge grew out of disclosures by a grand jury which began its investigation after the Livonia firm halted work on a $4,400,000 sewer project in Warren.

Ferrera, Cicchini and Brady said they stopped operations because of extortion attempts and threats on their lives.

tween the seven and the rest of the nations over the time element involved in removing Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime from OAS organs.

All are willing to declare Cuban communism incompatible with the inter-American system, but Brazil and Mexico particularly seem to want to delay the process by which Cuba would be ousted from inter-American family deliberations.

Brazil was reported seeking a new inter-American meeting to formulate a process for removing Cuba from OAS organs and to be balking at signing any policy statement calling for swift measures to oust the Havana regime from the OAS.

The Brazilian attitude spurred Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, R-Iowa to call a speech by Brazilian Foreign Minister Francisco San Thiago Dantas "inexcusably offensive to the United States. Hickenlooper's opinion was echoed by Rep. Armistead I. Selden, D-Ala.

Both Hickenlooper and Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., skipped a Brazilian reception a few hours after Dantas' speech Wednesday night. Morse said he found himself "in major disagreement with the Brazilian speech which I felt evaded the clear responsibility of the conference to exclude the Communist Cuban regime from the OAS."

Brazil's position poses a serious problem since any action here with teeth in it will probably have to be taken without the support of Latin-America's biggest nation. It also probably will have an effect in Congress on the future of the Alliance for Progress program, at least as it affects Brazil and its shaky economy and turbulent political situation.

Castro's spokesman, Cuban President Osvaldo Dorticos replied to the charges against the Cuban regime with a bitter denunciation of the United States that rambled on for nearly three hours, until early this morning.

Third-Rated Cincinnati Routs North Texas State 89-61

Youngstown U. Belted 100-70

Kentucky Wesleyan Tramples Penguins
By JIM HACKLEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer
The big difficulty an opposing team has in playing basketball against Cincinnati is that it does not know which Bearcat to keep an eye on.

Using the same solid balance that carried it to the NCAA championship last year, Ed Jucker's squad has scored 14 victories in 16 games this season—with the regulars rotating in the starring role.

At Cincinnati Thursday night Tony Yates played the leader as the Bearcats whipped North Texas State 89-61 in a Missouri Valley Conference runaway. The 6-foot ex-Air Force man, usually Cincinnati's floor general and defensive spark, turned scorer with 23 points—some 15 above his pregame average. North Texas sophomore John Savage accounted for 30 points, but did not have nearly enough support for the Eagles to make a game of it.

Bearcats 3rd In Loop

The Bearcats, whose two losses were by one point to Wichita and by two to Bradley in overtime, are now 4-2 in the Missouri Valley—trailing Bradley (4-1) and Wichita (5-2).

Houston beat Texas Christian for the third time this season, 61-56. The Cougars, now 14-3, netted 25 of 34 free throws—more than enough to offset TCU's superior sharpshooting from the field.

Providence (10-4) played another close one, and once again huge Jim Hadnot provided the difference for the Friars. Hadnot sank a shot with seven seconds to go for a 58-56 decision over Canisius.

LaSalle cut loose with 30 points in the final 10 minutes and beat Miami of Florida 73-61. Before the Explorers exploded, there had been 10 tied and 15 lead changes in the duel at Miami, but with the count even at 43-43, Bob McAttee hit on two quick baskets that triggered LaSalle's breakaway.

Penguins now 10-5

Only one other Ohio collegiate basketball squad was in action Thursday night, and it came off on the short end of a 100-70 score. The century mark was hit by Kentucky Wesleyan when it rolled over Youngstown. It was the fifth time this season the Panthers have reached 100 points.

The Penguins, now 10-5 for the season, were led by Tom Getch with 16 points and Ron Allen with 12. Wesleyan has a 14-2 mark.

Salem Freshmen Edge Past Alliance Stanton 55-54

A technical foul in the final seconds gave the Salem freshmen cagers their fourth straight win and seventh in 11 showings as they nipped the Alliance Stanton 55-54.

A technical foul was called against Alliance when they attempted to distract Rick Gregg as he was shooting a foul shot. Gregg then made the winning basket and the locals froze the ball until the final buzzer.

Gregg was high-point man for the locals with 15 tallies, followed closely by Dean Keller with 11. Long had 23 for Alliance.

Salem won the game at the foul line as they meshed 21 of 34 tosses compared to 12 for 34 for Alliance.

Massillon Holds Top Spot

Salem Quakers In 2nd Place In Ohio Big Eight Conference

The Salem Quakers, rated seventh in the latest AP Class AA state poll, are currently in second place in the Ohio Big Eight Basketball Conference. The locals have a total of four points and are just one point behind first place Massillon.

Due to the fact that all the teams do not meet this year, the conference championship will be decided on a point basis. A win over a loop foe gives a team two points while a loss is counted as a minus-one.

Massillon has won three of its four games while the Quakers have posted wins in both of their encounters. East Liverpool and Canton McKinley are tied for third place with identical 2-1 records and Steubenville Big Red is in fifth, despite the fact it has yet to meet a league opponent.

Niles and Warren are deadlocked for the number six spot with 1-3 marks and Alliance, winless in two starts, is the conference's cellar-dweller.

Mathematically, it is still possible for any of the top five teams to cop the championship.

Seven intra-conference tilts remain to be played. Following are the league standings and the remaining schedule:

Massillon	3	1	5	2
Salem	2	0	4	1

Ed Daugherty, Old Dutch's top-notch point-getter, continues his scoring leadership in the City Class A Basketball League with 301 points in eight games for a 37.6-point average.

Daugherty, who dropped approximately six points average since early season tabulations, still holds a commanding lead in the race after building up such a bulge in earlier games.

Jim Bell New Club Pro At Copeland

Jim Bell of East Palestine, a Youngstown District Golf Association member, will take over as club pro this season at the Copeland Hills Golf Course near Columbiana, it was announced today by club co-owners, Floyd Guterbera and Jim Hunt.

Thirty-four year old Bell has been a YDAGA member for ten years in class AA competition. Last fall he teamed with Grady Metz to win the Amateur-Amateur Best Ball at the Valley Golf Course, and in 1960 he was co-champion with Gus Peterson of Alliance of the Columbiana County Open held at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club. While he holds the Beaver Valley Country Club course record of 68, Jim's best score is a 64 at the East Palestine Country Club. He is also a former baseball player and played softball in the Salem AA League.

Cincy Games To Start Earlier This Season

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds say the wishes of fans have dictated at least a half-hour earlier start of most baseball games at Crosley Field this year.

President Bill DeWitt said night games will start at 7:35 p.m. and two-night doubleheaders will begin at 5:30 p.m., both an advance of a half hour. On special holidays, games will start at noon, an hour ahead of the usual schedule. The bulk of the daytime games, however, will continue to start at 1:30 p.m. for single games and 1 p.m. for doubleheaders.

Little Takes Tourney Lead

Fires Sizzling 65 In International Open

By P. D. ELDRED
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Sharp-shooting Gene Littler slipped six birdie putts into the cup while most of the other pros were bewailing lumpy greens. He took a two-stroke lead into today's second round of the $50,000 San Francisco International Open Golf Tournament.

The U.S. Open champion, noted for his easy going temperament and accurate putting, came within two strokes of equaling the Harding Park Municipal Course record with his 65. He left the bulk of the field bunched a respectable but challenging distance behind him.

The record dates back to 1948 when hometown Ken Venturi blazed around the tricky Harding Park course in 63. Then the 6,672-yard layout played to a par 72—one stroke over the par for this event. Tommy Jacobs matched the 63 two years ago in the Golden Gate Open, forerunner to the current event.

Littler, of San Diego, Calif. went into the second round two strokes in front of the veteran Marty Furgol, who also had a fine putting record.

Bunched at 68 behind Littler's 65 and Furgol's 67 were 10 top pros, including Doug Ford, winner of the frosty Crosby tournament at Pebble Beach last Monday.

Tony Lema, Bob Goalby, Harold Knece, Tommy Aaron, Paul Hareney, Stan Leonard, Ken Venturi, Eric Monti and Don Fairfield were grouped with Ford in the 3-under-par position.

A stroke behind them at 69 were Dow Finsterwald, Bob Shave, Dutch Harrison, Jackie Burke, Australia's Bruce Crampton, Billy Casper and Jack Fleck.

The defending champion, South African star Gary Player, was in contention with a 70 and, after his sub-par round, declared he was playing fine golf and the prospects looked good.

Franklin Moves Into 1st Place In City Volleyball

The Franklin Market Volleyball team moved into first place in the city league as it chalked up three wins by forfeit over the Jayvees in the Memorial Building Thursday night.

The wins pull Franklin out of a deadlock with Idle Post Office. Franklin's record now stands at 37-2.

In other action, Electric Furnace Experimental took two games from the Plungers, 15-13 and 15-8, before losing the final clash 15-12.

The final series of the evening saw Sevakene post three wins over Salem Music Center, 15-1, 15-12 and 15-6.

Action will resume Monday with Electric Furnace Engineering challenging Electric Furnace Sales, Ohio Bell battling Bayless, Dell's meeting P.A.'s and the Flintstones clashing with the Post Office.

OSU's Fred Taylor To Speak At Columbiana Sports Fete

Fred Taylor, successful Ohio State University basketball coach, will be main speaker at the Columbiana Boosters Club Sports Appreciation Dinner to be held at the Joshua Dixon School April 11, according to William Newell, the chairman of the event.

Taylor, who coaches the nation's top collegiate cage team, and who was a former teammate of Newell's, will give the principal address on a program honoring all sports teams at Columbiana High this school year.

Other outstanding athletes from the northeastern Ohio area are being invited to attend the dinner and program, Ray Spiker, Boosters Club president, reported.

Bricker, Berlin, Kaiser Cop Wins In City Basketball Loop

Bricker & Bricker, Berlin and Kaiser all posted wins in City Class A basketball action last night at the Memorial Building.

Bricker raced to its eighth win in nine outings by trampling Westville 87-38. Westville's record now stands at 3-7.

Bob Hutton was the big gun as he hooped 14 goals and five charity tosses for 33 counters. Chuck Faust was next high with 17 followed by Jack Dowd with 11. Bob Adams and Clyde Shoff each had 10 tallies. Ed Votaw was the only Westville player to hit in double figures. He ended the game with 14 points.

BRICKER JUMPED to a 16-9 lead at the end of the first period and led 28-15 as the game moved into the second half. The third quarter ended with the winners but Southeast battled back and holding a comfortable 54-27 margin.

Berlin raced to a 18-11 quarter score and was never threatened as it handed Salem Technical School its ninth loss in 10 appearances. It was Berlin's third victory in 10 outings.

Denver Gattrell was high-point man for the winners as he swished the nets with six buckets and two free-throws for 14 tallies. Daris Gattrell and Jim Brown were second high with nine points apiece. Lee Chamberlain led the loser's futile cause, hitting for 14.

KAISER WAS FORCED to put down a second period rally before it could claim a 56-48 win over Southeast Plaza.

Kaiser led by four points (16-12) at the end of the first period but Southeast battled back and

Eighth Grade Wins Again; Routs Maple Ridge 110-23

The Salem Eighth Grade cagers stormed to their 29th win, over a two-year period, Thursday night by embarrassing the Maple Ridge Eighth Grade 110-23 on the losers home court.

The locals had four men in double figures and eight men in the scoring column. Chuck Alexander led the attack as he swished the nets with 11 floor shots and one charity toss for 23 counters. Rick Klepper was second high with 20 followed by Tod Chappell and Jim Lantz with 18 and 15 points, respectively. Bill Whitacre was the only Maple Ridge player to hit in double digits, garnering 10 tallies.

Klepper and Lantz were also standouts on the boards for Salem. Klepper cleared the board 25 times while Lantz was credited with 15 saves.

It was apparent from the outset that a rout was in store. Salem dashed to a 28-6 lead at the end of the first period and coasted to victory. The locals widened their lead to 53-14 at intermission and were ahead 89-18 as the game moved into the final stanza.

Coach Bob Martin will send his charges into action again next Monday when they play host to Alliance State Street. Game time is slated for 4 p.m.

Groza, 38, Ready For 16th Season

CLEVELAND (AP)—Lou Groza celebrated his 38th birthday Thursday night and said he's ready for his 16th season of professional football with the Cleveland Browns.

Groza's magic toe booted 85 points during the 1961 National Football League season after a one-year retirement. He said he sees no reason why he can't do as well or better this fall.

"I haven't talked about a contract yet," he said. "But I'll be ready if they want me."

HOOP TALK

By . . . Double Dribble

Here I am, folks! Back from a refreshing vacation in Sunny California (Brrrrrrrr) and I'd like to take this opportunity to wish each and every one of you a Happy Idaho Potato and Onion Week!

Tonight's the night for the Wellsville Tigers! . . . and since they deserve some encouragement, I'll give them the once over lightly . . . This team is somewhat better than their record implies, and on their own floor (if you stretch your imagination you can call it that) this team could be all the Quakers can handle and more! Don't look for a "run away" game tonight . . . just hope for a win!

Well, this is the last time (whew) that I'll have to write anything about an Akron team this year (I hope) and Akron South's Cavaliers are the subject. These "Knights Without Armor" will be difficult to un-horse. They are a fairly tall group, with 3 boys at 6 foot 2, one at 6 foot 5, and last and least (lengthwise) one at 5 foot 6. Coach Satterlee is sure to have his boys up for this game to get even for the drubbing he took here last year. Summing up these observations, this looks like a good joust.

Flash! Seventh Grade Basketball season is now underway in Salem! Not only that, they won their opener! How about that!

Here are a few "tidbits" of information that have been "dribbling" in (that's a pun) by way of the phone and the mail-bag, that you may be interested in.

Did you know that according to "Big 8" rules, the home team should wear white jerseys and the visitors dark jerseys. In Niles, both Salem and Niles wore dark jerseys . . . (you can't tell the players without a program). Since Niles Coach Bassett may enter politics shortly, this maneuver was possibly used to get him used to looking at the "dark side" of things.

Did you know that Boardman has 15, that's right, 15, coaches for basketball, football, and track, for their Jr. and Sr. High School athletes . . . How many does Salem have.

Class AA and Class A district track meets will be held in Salem this year, but next year the class A meet will be held in Kent. Can any one tell me why the A district meet is being moved?

In a recent game in Portsmouth, which Portsmouth lost, all members of the Varsity saw action save one. It seems that this boy was locked in the dressing room at half time (accidentally, they claim) and no one missed him until after the game.

Another Big 8 game coming up next week with that team from the Ceramic City! I'll be back next week to give you the low down on the Potters!

What's your gripe on local sports? Write to me, Double Dribble, P.O. Box 316, Salem. I'll see that your complaint gets "equal time."

A Word From . . .

Theron's
Down at the Old Country Store

On The Columbiana - Lisbon Road.

Did you know that I.G.A. Food Stores are America's foremost groups of independently owned stores. Although we are only one-third as old as the country's largest chain, our volume is over 4 billion annually, theirs 5.

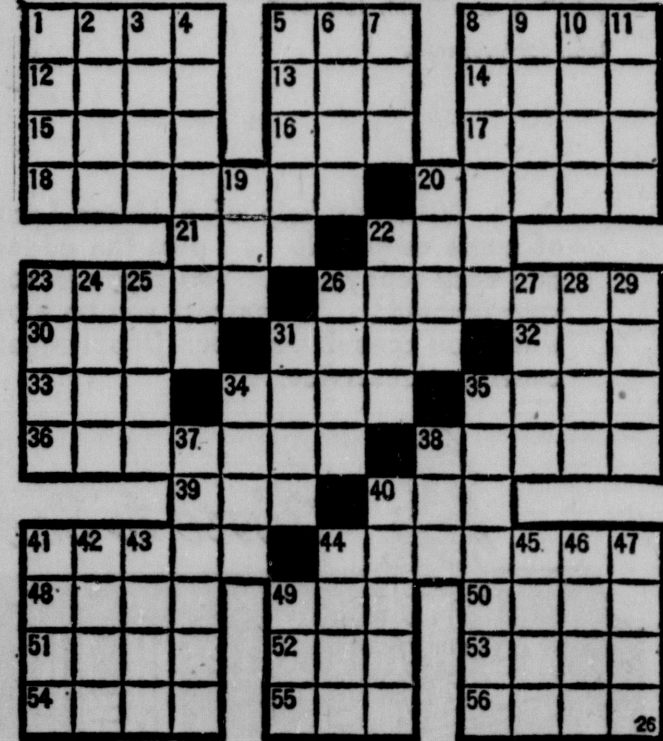

We didn't do this by being second best. Wherever a good I.G.A. store operates as a community builder it becomes in a few short years the number one store in the area it serves.
